Headline:
Outbreaks of rain, possibly wintry in eastern areas. Dry later.

Today:
Fog may be slow to clear in some parts, with outbreaks of rain for many to start, with possible sleet in eastern areas towards Bristol. Rain becoming largely confined to coasts through the day. Cloudy throughout, remaining cold. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Tonight:
The rain along coasts will clear this evening, leaving a dry night for all with patchy cloud. Icy conditions and fog patches are likely to develop overnight. Another cold night. Minimum temperature -1 deg C (30 deg F).

Saturday:
After a frosty start, any cloud will clear through the morning, leaving a dry day with sunny spells. Icy conditions remain possible. Turning cloudy later, but remaining dry. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Cloudier into Sunday, with spots of drizzle. Turning more unsettled into Monday evening, with stronger winds and occasional rain, possibly heavy. A dry start on Tuesday, with persistent rain later.
